The Ezekiel Project:

Building Strong Communities Through Understanding and Action

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s vision of the Beloved Community calls us to live out love, justice, and shared responsibility in practical ways. Guided by Micah 6:8, The Ezekiel Project works to ensure people across the Great Lakes Bay Region understand what is happening in their communities and have a voice in shaping their future.

For nearly 30 years, The Ezekiel Project has convened faith and community leaders across Saginaw, Bay, and Midland counties. Today, we are refocusing on our core mission: strengthening civic life through understanding, trust, and collaboration.

Why Sponsors Matter Now

Families across our region want strong schools, safe neighborhoods, and real opportunities. Too often, they are left out of decisions simply because information is unclear or inaccessible.

The Ezekiel Project addresses this gap by helping communities:

- Access clear, nonpartisan civic information
- Participate confidently in local decisions and elections
- Build trust and collaboration across differences

Sponsorship is an investment in stability, informed participation, and community leadership.

What Your Support Makes Possible

Through faith-rooted partnerships and community engagement, The Ezekiel Project:

- Hosts deep listening conversations that surface real community priorities
- Provides plain-language civic and voter education through Literacy x Democracy
- Develops trusted local leaders who strengthen neighborhoods and institutions

This work ensures that understanding leads to participation and participation leads to stronger communities.

Literacy x Democracy

Literacy x Democracy focuses on making civic participation accessible and understandable for everyone. By offering clear explanations of issues, elections, and local decisions in trusted spaces such as churches and community gatherings, we help residents engage with confidence and shared responsibility.

Invest in MiKids

Invest in MiKids is a current initiative focused on securing fair and sustainable school funding so every child has access to a quality education. In partnership with Michigan for the Many, we are working with parents and community members to build understanding of how school funding works and to advocate for revenue solutions that ask those with the greatest wealth to contribute their fair share. This work connects education, civic participation, and family voice, ensuring parents are informed, supported, and engaged in shaping policies that impact their children and their schools.

Why Invest in The Ezekiel Project

When you sponsor The Ezekiel Project, you are supporting:

- Parents advocating for stronger schools
- Congregations serving as anchors of trust
- Community leaders putting faith into action
- Informed residents participating in civic life
- A region where people feel connected, valued, and heard

Your sponsorship publicly demonstrates a commitment to justice, civic engagement, and strong communities across the Great Lakes Bay Region.

About Us

The Ezekiel Project is an interfaith interracial, congregation-centered, grassroots organization that addresses social justice issues and moves for systemic change within the Great Lakes Bay Region. We are led by a board with clergy and lay representatives from our member congregations.

The Ezekiel Project is a part of the Gamaliel Network, a network of community organizing projects which connects Ezekiel to similar organizations across the nation. The Gamaliel Network provides training, program assistance, and professional development to up-and-coming community leaders.

Our Mission

The Ezekiel Project prepares individuals and congregations in the Great Lakes Bay Region to build stronger, more just communities through faith-based community organizing.

Guided by the principles of justice, and compassion, we develop leaders, foster collaboration, and mobilize people of all backgrounds to address systemic challenges in education, health, and social justice. Together, we turn faith into action, creating lasting change through civic engagement and community partnerships.

Your Investment

When you invest in a sponsorship, you invest in building the beloved community throughout the Great Lakes Bay Region. No matter how many wins we get, justice is a lifelong pursuit. Become a part of the change you wish to see in the Great Lakes Bay Region as we look to foster even more relationships, fight social justice and oppression through Zeke CORE groups and Taskforces and cultivate new leaders within our congregations and communities.

Justice is ongoing. Faith fuels the journey. Leadership sustains the work.
